WHO IS 4REAL?

4Real is an internet forum that promotes a new paradigm for home education which focuses upon developing the whole personality of the child -- the heart, soul, and mind -- to pursue a happy, wholehearted, academically excellent, spiritually complete childhood. The board moderators are Catholics in union with Rome who live and learn with their own children. As we all share ideas and experiences we look to the treasure of the Church, and we find ourselves discussing and learning from St. Teresa Benedicta (Edith Stein), Maria Montessori, and St. John Bosco, among others. The insight and wisdom of Charlotte Mason has blessed us, and we glean from her writing with great joy. We are parents committed to real learning.

We are passionate about learning in the context of real life. And we are in love with the Real Presence. We approach education with bounding enthusiasm, but not necessarily within the confines of traditional classroom methods. We are all on a journey and we gladly welcome you as a traveling companion. None of us professes to have a well-mapped-out road guide, though we do have lots of handy traveling tips. And we are certain of our ultimate destination. We're headed for heaven. We plan to take our whole families with us. Where we go on the way is all part of the adventure. Certainly, the journey can be an arduous one but we are committed to it being a holy, joyful one.
